BIG WHEEL, SMALL WHEELS

A father and son stroll past the panoramic viewing wheel that's been installed in Botanic Park for the month of September

WALL PROTEST

Barrier may be completed but dispute's rumbling on

ANGER among residents of a Malone Road street over a new security barrier at the Chinese Consulate shows no sign of subsiding despite completion of the controversial wall.

People living in nearby Adelaide Park gathered at the entrance to the consulate this week carrying placards urging officials to respect planning and conservation laws.

Police maintained a low-key presence as protesters (right) displayed their determination to continue their campaign.
